PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The certificate in Homeland Security and Defense provides a 12 hour graduate-level experience for people working or desiring to work in the field of homeland security and defense. This program provides leadership education and critical thinking skills for dealing with threats faced in the global war on terror.

The curriculum is structured around key policy and organizational problems involving homeland security. Each course prepares students to master core issues, principles, and problem-solving approaches that can be applied to specific challenges confronting their jurisdictions or sponsoring organizations.

ADMISSION CRITERIA

To be considered for the program, a student must have a 2.75 grade point average and be admitted to the Graduate College. Students who do not meet this criterion, but demonstrate potential for success through career experience, may be admitted at the discretion of the Certificate Advisor and with the approval of the Dean of the Graduate College. Admission to this certificate program does not constitute admission to any other Missouri State University graduate program.

Emeritus Professor: William R. Van Cleave

MASTER OF SCIENCE, DEFENSE AND STRATEGIC STUDIES

This program operates in Fairfax, Virginia, and is certified by the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia (SCHEV).

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The primary objective of the Department of Defense and Strategic Studies program is to provide professional, graduate level academic education and training for students planning careers in the fields of national security policy, international security affairs, defense analysis, arms control, and education. In essence, this is a graduate international studies program with emphasis on security problems, strategic interests, and U.S. policy and policy-making. It is a program in public affairs.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Admission to the program requires a 2.75 GPA on the last 60 hours, a satisfactory Graduate Record Examination score (e.g., 900 or higher combined score on the verbal and quantitative), and letters of recommendation from undergraduate faculty or professionals acquainted with the students academic work or research and analytical skills. A relatively low GRE score may be compensated by an impressive undergraduate GPA and strong letters of recommendation.

RETENTION REQUIREMENTS

To remain in the program, the student must maintain, by the completion of the second semester, a minimum GPA of 3.00 in DSS courses and in all graduate work, and make satisfactory progress toward the MS degree.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS (36 hours)

1. Core Requirements. A minimum of 24 hours from the DSS curriculum is required, of which all students will normally take two core courses: DSS 601 (3), Seminar on Strategy and Arms Control; and DSS 632 (3), Seminar on International Security Affairs. A minimum of 18 additional seminar hours would be selected by the student from the other DSS courses offered.
2. Electives. The DSS candidate, in consultation with the department head, may choose up to 12 semester hours of electives from any appropriate discipline in a cognate or relevant field; or alternatively, to distribute them in related fields. To fulfill the required 36 semester hours, the student may draw upon graduate level courses in other departments, based upon the student's own specialized interests (whether they be in science, policy, administration, or education).
3. Research. A student will be required to complete either the Thesis option or the Non-thesis option.

Thesis Option. Completion of a satisfactory thesis in the candidate's discipline. Thesis credit shall be no more than 3 semester hours of the minimum 36 hours required for a master's degree. If the student fails to complete the thesis during the semester in which they are first enrolled in DSS 799, they must enroll in DSS 799 for 3 hours again until the thesis is finished. The student will be graded each time they enroll in DSS 799 but may not use additional 799 hours toward the 36 hours required for a master's degree. Absent extraordinary circumstances, no incomplete grades will be granted for DSS 799.

Non-Thesis Option. A comprehensive examination covering the DSS core field of study must be passed, and students must complete a research paper in DSS 796.

MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

GRADUATE CERTIFICATE IN DEFENSE AND STRATEGIC STUDIES

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Department of Defense and Strategic Studies in Fairfax, Virginia, offers a Graduate Certificate in Defense and Strategic Studies designed for mid-career professionals. This certificate is intended for those who have a defined but compressed period of time for their education, yet desire advanced study of major defense and strategic issues to further their career. Prospective students may enroll in the fall, spring, or summer semester. Once admitted, they must complete 9 credit hours selected from the seminars listed below in order to receive the certificate. Students may attend full-time (3 seminars per semester) or part-time (1 or 2 seminars per semester). In certain situations, and with advisor approval, a student may be able to use a course from outside the Defense and Strategic Studies department.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

The candidate must have a bachelors degree and be admitted to the MSU Graduate College. Enrollment for each course must be approved by the professor.

GPAREQUIREMENTS

Students must have a B or better grade in each course.

DEFENSE AND STRATEGIC STUDIES COURSES

DSS 601 Seminar on Nuclear Strategy and Arms Control. 3(3-0), F.S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar examines contemporary U.S. and Soviet/Russian strategic nuclear arms and arms control policies and their interaction. The seminar will review the U.S.-Soviet nuclear relationship and extend this to an examination of post-USSR Russian and American nuclear strategy and policy. The seminar will study the strategic nuclear balance, including specific problems and programs, and the strategic doctrine, concepts, and objectives of the nuclear powers. Nuclear arms control, including the processes of decision making and negotiating, will be examined, with an emphasis on comparing theory and practice. May be taught concurrently with DSS 501. Cannot receive credit for both DSS 601 and DSS 501. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 632 Seminar on International Security Affairs. 3(3-0), F.S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Examines international and regional security problems and policies from both a regional and global perspective. It treats strategies and security problems from a broader viewpoint than the Seminar on Strategy and Arms Control, covering national interests, alliance relationships, intervention, regional threats, and the security problems of other states, particularly China and Russia. May be taught concurrently with DSS 502. Cannot receive credit for both DSS 632 and DSS 502. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 633 Analysis of International Security Politics. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This course deals with the methods and techniques of collecting and assessing information for use in the study of international security politics, problems, and policies. It explores the measures of relative power among nations and the manner in which such power or lack of it shapes the capability of a nation effectively to act in the international sphere. May be taught concurrently with DSS 503. Cannot receive credit for both DSS 633 and DSS 503. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 634 The Geopolitics of Conflict and Accommodation. 3(3-0), F. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. The application of the techniques and understanding lent by the geography to the illumination of the physical and social environment in which politics, strategy, and war take place. The relationship among geography, strategy, and politics is studied through the examination of both historical and contemporary circumstances where geography has intruded on politics or politics on geography. Students will be introduced to the geopolitical concepts of sea power, land power and air power, and these concepts will be critiqued in light of recent technological changes in warfare. May be taught concurrently with DSS 504. Cannot receive credit for both DSS 634 and DSS 504. Supplemental Course Fee.

DSS 700 Strategy and U.S. Defense Policy. 3(3-0) F.S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This course provides an examination of the basic concepts and issues of strategy, deterrence, defense, and arms control, and an overview of American defense policies, programs, and problems since World War II. Comparative Soviet/Russian strategic concepts, policies, and objectives are covered. U.S.-USSR strategic balance and relationships, including arms control are examined on an introductory basis. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 702 Seminar on Regional Security Problems. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar provides an advanced and in-depth analysis of selected contemporary regional security problems outside of Western Europe. It focuses on a few critical conflict situations, analyzes threats to regional and to U.S. interests, and examines alternative strategic policies and actions, including military force requirements, for the states involved. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 703 Science, Technology, and Defense Policy. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This course, taught jointly with a qualified physical scientist, will cover four broad topics important to advanced work in DSS: basic principles and applications of defense science and technology; such as nuclear weapons effects, ballistic missiles, and strategic defenses; the influence of science and technology on defense programs and policies; the role of the scientific and technical community in defense policy; and current issues of defense science and technology. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 704 Arms Control: Theory and Practice. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. An examination of contending arms control theories and concepts as tested by postwar and contemporary experience, bilateral and multilateral. There will be in-depth analysis of American and Soviet approaches to arms control, as well as consideration of the arms control policies of other states. The course will study scientific and technical problems in arms control, including those of R and D, testing, production, and deployment; arms negotiations, and issues in verification and compliance. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 705 NATO Security Issues. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. After an examination of the history of NATO policies, defense policies, and security issues, emphasis will be placed on analysis of current NATO security problems and options, including specific military defense alternatives. The individual security policies of the U.S., UK, FRG, and France will be studied, along with problems on the northern and southern flanks, and policies for outside-NATO-area security problems. Literature on the future of NATO would be included. Supplemental course fee.

DEFENSE AND STRATEGIC STUDIES

DSS 706 Soviet and Russian Military Strategy. 3(3-0) F, S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. The first part of this seminar will review and study Soviet military policy, doctrine, strategy, and programs from the 1950s through the 1980s. It will consider problems of identifying, interpreting, and analyzing soviet strategic policies and programs - in essence, problems of U.S. intelligence and threat assessment. Part two of the seminar will extend this study to Post-USSR Russia and current directions of Russian strategic policy both for territories of the former USSR and beyond. Particular emphasis will be placed on military reform, continuity and change in military policy, and the status and role of the Russian military forces. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 707 Seminar on Defense Policy Analysis. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Advanced research, study, and analysis of defense programs, policies, and the policy and budget processes, both within the Department of Defense and in Congress. Included also will be the comparative analysis of various studies, analyses, and critiques of U.S. defense programs and plans, and of regional and global military balances. Department of Defense administration and organization also studied. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 708 Seminar on Contemporary Security Issues in the Former USSR. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar addresses on an advanced level current developments in Russia and other states of the former Soviet Union as they bear on issues of national and international security and on U.S. security policy-making. The approach will combine analysis of internal developments related to military power and policy, and of evolving international policies, with strategic and geopolitical analysis. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 709 Seminar on Space and Information Warfare. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar will explore the role that space and information warfare play in the national security policies and programs, and military doctrines, of the United States and other great powers. The seminar will be divided into three parts. Part one will focus on the role of space in national security, including background on U.S. and Soviet/Russian space programs, the nature of space technologies and systems, the environment of space as a theater of military operations, the impact of international law and treaties on space warfare, the development of space threats to the United States and its allies, the historical and future role of space assets in terrestrial warfare, and the nexus between civilian and military space programs. Part two will examine the burgeoning field of information warfare by seeking to define and understand what is meant by the concept, what benefits and risks it offers to American national security, in what ways the pursuit of I-War capabilities is shaping the development of American military doctrine and force structure, and how and to what extent I-War capabilities are replacements for more traditional military capabilities such as conventional and nuclear forces. Part three will then examine the relationship between space warfare and information warfare, including how the two are conceptually supportive and how civilian and military applications of information and space technology will be increasingly blurred in the future. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 710 Seminar on International Terrorism and Security. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar will attempt to define and examine security issues related to terrorism and low-intensity conflict today. The origins of modern terrorism will be explored and terrorism will be put in the context of a strategy to achieve political ends. Case studies of terrorism in various regions, e.g., the Middle East, Europe and the United States, will show some of the current empirical evidence of global terrorist activities. The impact terrorism has on liberal societies and their ability to defend themselves will be examined in the context of counterterrorism strategies. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 711 The Rise of the United States to Preeminence. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This course will discuss the political development of the United States and its rise to great power, and then superpower status. Students will study major U.S. wars and the political circumstances surrounding those conflicts. The course will address why the United States successfully developed into a world power and how its grand strategy changed over time. It will ask what lessons today's strategists can draw from the experiences of their predecessors. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 712 American National Security Policy. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Evaluation of the major actors and components of American national security policy. America's traditional national interests are studied—accenting World War II, the Cold War, and the present day. Course also addresses the circumstances of major foreign policy crises, such as the Cuban Missile Crisis, and the causes of successful and unsuccessful American interventions during the Cold War and after. Additionally, it considers America's foreign and defense policy in the post-Cold War world, and particular emphasis is placed on American policies toward other great powers such as China, Japan, and Russia, as well as in contemporary foreign and defense policy crises such as the war on terrorism. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 713 Intelligence, Counterintelligence, and Covert Action. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This course examines the role of intelligence and counterintelligence in the formulation and execution of state national security policies in democratic governments, and the impact of intelligence operations on international relations. The intelligence process is examined including the problems and opportunities associated with targeting or the tasking of intelligence agencies, the media of intelligence collection, the difficulties of analysis and evaluation, and counterintelligence. Additionally, covert action and paramilitary activities are studied with emphasis on the manner by which successes and failures have influenced military and foreign policy outcomes. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 714 Seminar on Strategic Thought. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. There is a rich literature on strategy and warfare, and even the oldest surviving works on strategy are arguably relevant to contemporary political leaders. This course will examine the ideas of strategic thinkers who lived in historical periods ranging from the ancient world to the present. Students will read works by (and in some cases, about) such figures as Sun Tzu, Niccolò Machiavelli, Napoleon Bonaparte, Baron Antoine Henri de Jomini, Carl von Clausewitz, Thucydides, and Colin S. Gray. Students will discuss how these thinkers have influenced strategic studies, and how military-strategic thought has developed over time. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 715 Grand Strategy. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar examines the role of grand strategy in international security. Emphasis is placed on the nature and role of grand strategy, and the major systemic and domestic factors that influence grand strategy. The nature of grand strategy will be introduced historically, and the grand strategies of the major world powers prior to and during World Wars I and II, the Cold War, and post-Cold War period, will be studied. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 716 Understanding Military Operations. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar delineates selected past, current, and future sea, air, space, and land conflicts into their constituent parts in order to examine the interaction of political objectives and military doctrine. It will specifically seek to explore how the political objectives and military doctrine influence technological development and military innovation. To meet these objectives, the seminar will examine a variety of international political and doctrinal problems that have had a major impact on American national security policy. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 717 Small Wars, Imperial Conflicts, and Guerrilla Warfare. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar examines some of the many forms of warfare that differ from "symmetrical" conflicts between great powers, with special attention to how great powers fight such wars and why they succeed or fail in bringing them to a satisfactory conclusion. Students will read a variety of literature written by authors such as C. E. Calwell, Victor Davis Hanson, and Colin Gray, as well as insurgents such as Che Guevara. The class will include a number of historical case studies, with an emphasis on the nineteenth, twentieth, and twenty-first centuries. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 718 Causes of War. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar explores the causes of warfare through the lens of human evolution, psychological approaches, economic system, ideology, and the international system, with the intention of understanding the strengths and limitations of each level of analysis. From that foundation, the seminar applies each level of analysis to the study of the origins of particularly significant wars: the Peloponnesian, Crimean, Seven Years', Korean, and Vietnam Wars, as well as World War I and World War II. Supplemental course fee.

MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

DSS 719 Strategic Culture. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Provides an introduction to using strategic culture as an analytical approach to understanding the cultural, religious, historical, and leadership sources of state and non-state actor behavior, with special reference to issues related to weapons of mass destruction. The concept of strategic culture captures domestic sources of state behavior, and offers an alternative or supplemental explanatory framework to the prevailing realist and constructionist theories of international relations. Examines the cultural context for applying theories of deterrence and dissuasion, and will involve a survey of thinking and analysis on strategic culture, from both theoretical and policy perspectives, as well as an exposure to the framework and methodology of strategic cultural analysis. Several key strategic cultures will serve as case studies. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 720 Internship Training in DSS Policy. 1-3 D. Prerequisite: permission of department head and acceptance by employer. Internship experience and training in defense and arms control policy making with a U.S. Government department or agency, a Washington, D.C., based defense policy research institute, or institution of comparable professional experience, including preparation of a written report or research paper based upon the internship. May be repeated for credit to a maximum of 6 credit hours toward degree. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 721 Missile Defense, Proliferation and Contemporary Warfare. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Examines the role of missile defense in the national security policies, programs, and military doctrines of the United States. Emphasis on exploring the evolution of missile defense within the broader context of contemporary American deterrence and defense policy. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 722 Emerging Strategic Challenges. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. For the purpose of this seminar, strategic challenges are defined as those emerging trends or security threats—political, economic, or military—that could fundamentally alter the present pattern of interstate relations or the core principles of U.S. foreign and defense policy. Examples include a possible cascade of proliferation resulting in 20 or 30 nuclear-armed states, a single terrorist with a nuclear weapon, or a resurgent Russia or ascendant China rising to a level of a peer competitor of the United States. Seminar reading and discussions will focus on: 1) Examining the causes, effects, and responses to these potential strategic challenges, especially the spread of weapons of mass destruction to state and non-state actors, both terrorists and enablers such as the A.Q. Kahn network; 2) Assessing assumptions, policies and capabilities for dealing with these challenges and how the concept of dissuasion, deterrence, and defense must adapt to the new security environment; and 3) Exploring how best to hedge against strategic uncertainties and how best to shape the future of the nuclear enterprise to promote the expansion of nuclear energy globally while reducing the risks of proliferation. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 723 Counterproliferation. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Explores the challenges posed by nuclear and biological weapons in the hands of state and non-state actors. Students will investigate why various actors pursue these weapons, why some give them up, why others refuse to give them up, and the assorted instruments of national power that may be employed in the development of a national strategy to combat these weapons. Students will consider both the national security and homeland security aspects of these challenges. Subject matter will provide a vehicle for refining critical analytical skills; both verbal and written. This course will stress the refinement of each student's analytical and problem solving abilities as part of their development as national security strategists. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 724 Leadership in National Security Policy. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Addresses the issue of national security policy leadership. Students will investigate the critical topics, including the components of good leadership, and the consequences of leadership failures. Speakers from the national security community will participate in order to explain the leadership challenges they faced in their careers. The subject matter will provide a vehicle for refining student leadership skills as part of their development as national security strategists. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 725 Seminar on Instruments of State Power. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Instruments of state power encompass a broad range of tools—diplomatic, economic, intelligence, scientific and military—at the disposal of the state in the formulation and implementation of national security policy. Understanding the foundations, applications, and integration of these instruments is essential for the successful practitioner or scholar of security affairs. This seminar will focus on the individual instruments of U.S. power and their interrelationships in the conduct of foreign and defense policy. The class will employ case studies to assess the role of these instruments and the success and failure of their application. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 726 Chinese Military Power. 3(3-0) D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This course focuses on the rising military power of China (its motivation and implications), Chinese objectives in Asia and their relationship to its military buildup, the impact of the Chinese military buildup on the military and deterrence requirements of the United States and our Asia Allies, the prospect and outcome of a military confrontation between China and Taiwan, including potential involvement of the United States and, in light of the potentially catastrophic consequences of a major war in the Far East, issues relating to the deterrence of China. The focus of the course will be on relatively recent developments—1990 to the present because of the dramatic shift in Chinese military capabilities, doctrine and objectives during this period. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 796 Directed Reading and Research in Defense and Strategic Studies. 1-9 F,S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Individually tailored directed readings or research for bibliographical purposes; for improvement of research skills; for the purposes of a broader background of knowledge (e.g., in areas not covered by seminars, such as classical writings on strategy, and on the art of warfare historically or in the American experience); for more depth in selected areas of specialization; and/or to help meet the non-thesis M.S. research requirement. May be repeated for credit to a maximum of 9 credit hours toward degree. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 797 Special Topics. 1-3 F,S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and department head. Special topics may be offered as specific important issues, which are not adequately covered by regular seminars, arise; when Distinguished Guest seminars and work-shops can be planned ahead of time; or when visiting faculty wish to offer specialized courses not in the curriculum. May be repeated to a maximum of 6 hours, as topics change. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 798 Seminar on Contemporary Defense Issues. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. This seminar will address important contemporary defense and international security issues and may be offered to develop areas of study that are insufficiently covered by regular seminars, or when distinguished guest faculty or speakers wish to offer a specialized seminar not provided by the curriculum. May be repeated to a maximum of 6 hours, as topics change. Supplemental course fee.

DSS 799 Thesis. 1-6 D. Prerequisite: completion of DSS course requirements for MS degree (30 hours minimum) and permission of department head. Independent research and study connected with preparation of thesis. Supplemental course fee.

ECONOMICS COURSES

ECO 600 Fundamentals of Economics. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: COBA majors must receive permission from a director of a COBA graduate program. An accelerated course dealing with the fundamentals of micro- and macroeconomic theory, designed for graduate students who have not completed undergraduate principles of economics. This course will not be counted in the hours required for a COBA graduate degree. May be taught concurrently with ECO 500. Cannot receive credit for both ECO 500 and ECO 600.

ECO 604 Health Care Economics. 3(3-0), F. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 165. A basic study of the economics of the health care market. Microeconomic theory is applied to the analysis of health care issues. Attention will be given to empirical studies of health care economics. Identical with HCM 604. Cannot receive credit for both ECO 604 and HCM 604. May be taught concurrently with ECO 504. Cannot receive credit for both ECO 504 and ECO 604.

ECO 611 Intermediate Econometrics. 3(3-0), D. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 409. Examination of the principles of economic model construction and the econometric techniques used in estimation of behavioral relationships. May be taught concurrently with ECO 508. Cannot receive credit for both ECO 508 and ECO 611.

ECO 615 Public Finance. 3(3-0), D. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 155 and ECO 165. Allocation and distribution functions of the public sector of the economy; theories of taxation and public expenditure; shifting and incidences of taxes, local-state federal finance. May be taught concurrently with ECO 515. Cannot receive credit for both ECO 515 and ECO 615.

ECO 620 History of Economic Thought. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: Recommended: ECO 155 and ECO 165. Development of economic theory. May be taught concurrently with ECO 520 Cannot receive credit for both ECO 520 and ECO 620.

ECO 640 Economics of the Environment. 3(3-0), F. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 165. The course applies economic concepts and analysis to environmental issues such as pollution and natural resource management. Economic concepts and analysis used in the course will include supply and demand, cost benefit analysis, and the role of incentives. May be taught concurrently with ECO 540 Cannot receive credit for both ECO 540 and ECO 640.

ECO 665 International Economics. 3(3-0), S. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 308 or QBA 237 or equivalent. Theory, institutions and problems respecting international economic relations. May be taught concurrently with ECO 565. Cannot receive credit for both ECO 565 and ECO 665.

ECO 685 Advanced Economic Analysis. 3(3-0), D. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 365 and ECO 385 and ECO 473. Advanced study of the theories of production, distribution and exchange; emphasizing the theory of games, linear programming and input-output analysis. May be taught concurrently with ECO 585 Cannot receive credit for both ECO 585 and ECO 685.

ECO 686 Business Cycles and Forecasting. 3(3-0), D. Recommended Prerequisite: ECO 385. PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The program is designed to provide instruction in various subject areas of history, which can prepare the student for advanced study at the doctoral level or serve as a terminal degree. There are three program tracks: American Studies track, Global Area Studies track, U.S and World track.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

1. Applicants need three letters of recommendation.
2. Applicants must either submit recent Graduate Record Examination scores (on the general exam, the specific history subject exam not being required) or have a Missouri teaching certificate in social studies. Applicants with a GPA below 3.00 on a 4.00 scale must submit recent GRE scores.
3. Applicants must have 24 undergraduate hours in history (or equivalent). A graduate student may make up a deficiency with additional courses in history, though such courses may not be counted toward the 30 semester hour total requirement for the master's degree. Admission will also depend on the quality of the previous academic record.

CORE REQUIREMENTS

9 hrs

HST 701: Historiography & Historical Method 3 hrs

Seminar: Completion of at least one seminar. 3 hrs

(Required even if the student chooses to complete the research requirement through the thesis option.)

Primary Source Proseminar: Completion of at least one 700-level course in Use and Understanding of Sources (such as HST 783, 784, 785, 786 or 787) that studies primary sources in a historical field. 3 hrs

American Studies Track

1. Online Courses. This track has been designed around a series of online courses. HST 701 and the HST 720 Proseminar have been offered online along with U.S. History Primary Source Proseminars (currently HST 783, 784, 785, 786 or 787).
2. Interdisciplinary. In conjunction with the core and online courses in U.S. history, this track draws upon an interdisciplinary approach to American society and culture. With the consent of the candidate's advisory committee, nine hours of graduate credit must be taken in American Studies related disciplines such as American art, culture, film, folklore, government, literature, or music.
3. Research. This requirement will be met in one of the following ways:
 - a. Thesis Option. Completion of a satisfactory thesis in U.S. history or American Studies. Thesis credit shall be 6 hours of the total offered to satisfy degree requirements.
 - b. Seminar Option. Completion of one satisfactory seminar paper in U.S. history or American Studies.
4. Seminar. Completion of at least 1 seminar in U.S. history or American Studies.
5. Proseminars. Completion of at least 2 proseminars in U.S. history or American Studies for students in the seminar option; 1 proseminar in U.S. history or American Studies for students in the thesis option.
6. Primary Source Proseminars. Minimum of 2 primary source proseminars in U.S. history or American Studies (currently HST 783, 784, 785, 786 or 787).

Hours of graduate credit in history must include a minimum of 18 hours at the 700-level and consist in total of a minimum of 30; and, with the consent of the candidate's advisory committee, 9 hours of graduate credit must be taken in American Studies related disciplines such as American art, culture, film, folklore, government, literature, or music which can be at Missouri State or transfer credit.

MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

Global Area Studies Track

1. World History Proseminar. At least one proseminar in World History.
2. Emphasis Area. An emphasis with a minimum of 9 hours including a proseminar in an area of study such as Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, or the Middle East.
3. At least one course in U.S. in the world or U.S foreign relations or recent history of the U.S.
4. Research. This requirement will be met in one of the following ways:
 - a. Thesis Option. Completion of a satisfactory thesis in non-U.S. history in the emphasis area of study such as Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, or the Middle East. Thesis credit shall be 6 hours of the total offered to satisfy degree requirements.
 - b. Seminar Option. Completion of one satisfactory seminar paper in non-U.S. history.
5. Seminar. Completion of at least 1 seminar in non-U.S. history.
6. Proseminars. Completion of at least 3 non-U.S. history proseminars for students in the seminar option; 2 non-U.S. history proseminars for students in the thesis option. At least one proseminar in World History. At least one proseminar in the emphasis area of study such as Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America, or the Middle East.

Hours of graduate credit in history must include a minimum of 18 hours at the 700-level and consist in total of a minimum of 30; and, with the consent of the candidate's advisory committee, a maximum of 9 hours of graduate credit may be taken in related disciplines which can be at Missouri State or transfer.

U.S. and World Track

1. In addition to the core requirements, one of the following distributions of courses:
 - a. A minimum of 12 hours in U.S. history, including a seminar and two proseminars (a thesis, seminar, and one proseminar if a student completes the thesis option), and at least 6 hours in nonU.S. history, including a proseminar.
 - b. A minimum of 12 hours in non-U.S. history, including a seminar and two proseminars (a thesis, seminar and one proseminar if a student completes the thesis option), and at least 6 hours in U.S. history, including a proseminar.
2. Research. This requirement will be met in one of the following ways:
 - a. Thesis Option. Completion of a satisfactory thesis. Thesis credit shall be 6 hours of the total offered to satisfy degree requirements.
 - b. Seminar Option. Completion of one satisfactory seminar paper.

Additional hours of graduate credit in history to include a minimum of 18 hours at the 700-level and consist in total of a minimum of 30; and, with the consent of the candidate's advisory committee, a maximum of 9 hours of the elective hours of graduate credit may be taken in related disciplines which can be at Missouri State or transfer.

Secondary Education Sub-track

In-service teachers can take this secondary education sub-track which is designed to supplement the other courses they take in the MA in History program that enhance their content knowledge in World and U.S. history. The sub-track can be taken in conjunction with any one of the three tracks listed above.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Master of Public Administration (MPA) program is accredited by the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration (NASPAA) which serves as a national and international resource for the promotion of excellence in education and training for public service.

The MPA program is designed to prepare students for careers in public service and to provide professional development for administrators of public agencies and non-profit organizations. As such, the purpose of the program is to help students develop theoretical and analytical insights into problems of governance in a democratic society, into the interplay between politics and public service, and into the relationship between elected officials and bureaucracy in the formulation, implementation and evaluation of public policies. Specifically, the goals of our program, in conjunction with the University's state-wide mission in public affairs, are to produce graduates who:

1. are culturally competent and understand the importance of civic engagement and the role of ethical leadership in public service;
2. have an understanding of the role that public service plays in democratic society; and
3. are prepared to pursue advanced study in public administration.

All Students with demonstrated academic competence, interest in pursuing a career in public service, and who meet the entrance requirements of the Graduate College and the MPA program will be welcomed into the program. Students may pursue specializations in one of the following areas: 1) public safety, 2) local government management, and 3) public policy.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

1. 3.00 GPA (on a 4.00 scale) in undergraduate degree from an accredited institution.
2. Three strong letters of recommendation from undergraduate professors and/or persons well acquainted with the applicant's education and abilities. Letters should be sent directly to the MPA Program Director.
3. A minimum score of 900 on the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) general examination.
4. Applicants with a GPA between 2.75 and 2.99 and/or score of less than 900 on the GRE test may be admitted to the program on a provisional status at the discretion of the MPA director. A personal interview may be required.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

All students applying for a graduate assistantship must have their GRE scores (verbal and quantitative) on file at the time of application. All graduate assistants in Political Science are required to take 9 hours of course work.

ADVISEMENT

1. The MPA Director may waive the internship requirement for students who have appropriate and sufficient prior work experience in public or not-for-profit organizations. Students with prior work experience in the public or not-for-profit sector should submit a letter to the MPA Director requesting a waiver in the internship requirement along with a copy of his/her resume. Students for whom an internship requirement is waived must still take a three hour course to substitute for the internship.
2. All MPA students in consultation with the MPA Director will select an area of concentration (cognate field) within the MPA degree. Students shall take elective courses from the list of courses for the area of concentration he/she has selected. Exceptions may be granted at the discretion of the MPA Director.
3. All students should work closely with the MPA Director in completing their required and elective courses, internship, Advisor Approved Program of Study, and comprehensive examination.
4. Students pursuing a thesis option should establish a thesis committee consisting of three graduate faculty members and select one of the members to serve as chair of the thesis committee. The chair of the committee will guide the student through the entire thesis process.

ACCELERATED MASTER OF PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION OPTION

Eligible Missouri State University majors in public administration or political science may apply for preliminary acceptance into the Master of Public Administration program after admission requirements for the accelerated master's option have been satisfied. If accepted, the undergraduate requirements for PLS 673 (Policy Analysis), PLS 676 (Quantitative Methods of Political Science and Public Policy), and PLS 781 (In-service Training in Public Administration) can be counted for both the undergraduate and graduate degrees.

In addition, PLS 771 (Seminar in Public Administration) can be taken during the student's senior year and can also count toward both degrees. This option gives exceptional undergraduate students the opportunity to complete their bachelor's and master's degrees in ten semesters and a summer. Contact the Director of the MPA Program for further information and guidelines.

Before enrolling in a course to be counted as both undergraduate and graduate credit and to count the course toward the master's degree, an undergraduate student must be accepted into the accelerated program and receive prior approval from the graduate program advisor, department head of the undergraduate program, and the dean of the Graduate College. Acceptance into the program and all approvals must be completed prior to the end of the Change of Schedule Period for the course(s). See the Graduate College for further information.

Admission Process for the Accelerated MPA Option:

Immediately prior to or during the junior year, the prospective student should discuss the possibility of participating in the Accelerated Master's Degree program with their undergraduate advisor and Department Head of the Political Science Department. If the student's academic record and potential are judged strong, the Head recommends the student to the proposed Accelerated MPA program. Undergraduate students who enter the Accelerated Master’s Degree program should have a sponsor, i.e., a MPA faculty member who will serve as a mentor to the student throughout the undergraduate and graduate programs.

A student must be admitted into the Accelerated Master’s Degree Program at Missouri State University in order to begin taking graduate course work for dual credit. Students admitted into the Accelerated Master’s Degree program will not be fully admitted into the Graduate College until completion of their undergraduate degree and fulfillment of all other requirements for admission to the Graduate College (such as the Graduate Record Examination). Students should be awarded the bachelor’s degree upon completion of a minimum of 125 hours of combined graduate and undergraduate course work and degree specific requirements.

Admission Requirements for the Accelerated MPA Option:

1. Public administration and political science undergraduate students must have at least junior standing and a minimum of 60 credit hours.
2. Applicants must have a minimum 3.50 GPA in the public administration or political science curriculum and 3.00 overall GPA.
3. Students in the Accelerated Master’s Degree Program must maintain a 3.50 GPA in the public administration and/or political science curriculums and maintain a 3.00 overall GPA to remain in the program.
4. Transfer students will be allowed into the Accelerated Masters Degree Program. Transfer students must have a minimum of 30 graded hours of course work at Missouri State University before they can be accepted into the program.
5. A maximum of 12 credits of accumulated graduate hours may be applied toward completion of their undergraduate degree requirements. The following courses will be allowed:

PLS 673	Policy Analysis	3 hrs
PLS 676	Quantitative Methods of Political Science and Public Policy	3 hrs
PLS 771	Seminar in Public Administration	3 hrs
PLS 781	In-Service Training in Public Adm.	3 hrs

CERTIFICATE IN PUBLIC MANAGEMENT

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Certificate in Public Management (CPM) is a post-baccalaureate program designed to enable practitioners in government and non-profit organizations to acquire knowledge and skills in public administration without pursuing a full master’s degree. This is an ideal academic program for individuals working in mid-level jobs who have not previously received professional training in public administration. While the focus is on the public sector, the courses teach leadership and problem solving skills that apply to the non-profit sector as well.

The CPM requires a total of 18 hours of graduate credits involving a mix of required and elective credits. The courses are the same as those offered to MPA students. The courses must be completed within four years of admission into the program. The program does not require a comprehensive examination, area of concentration, or a capstone research requirement.

ADMISSION CRITERIA

Admission to the Certificate Program requires the same application materials as the MPA. This includes a bachelor’s degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education, a 3.00 overall grade point average, and 3 letters of recommendation. Unlike the MPA degree, the GRE is not required. Admission is open to qualified persons without regard to age, physical disability, national origin, race, religion, or gender.

In addition to the general requirements specified in the Missouri State University Graduate Catalog, selection is made on the basis of prior academic performance, professional accomplishments, and other indicators of the ability to pursue successfully graduate education and a professional career in public management. Students who do not meet the normal admission requirements, but who show an indication of high promise, will be considered for probationary admission. The Director of the MPA program will define probationary conditions and convey those to the student.

ADMISSION TO THE MASTER’S PROGRAM FROM THE CPM

Admission to and successful completion of the CPM in no way guarantees admission to the MPA program. Students who are enrolled in or have completed the CPM must apply separately for admission to the MPA and comply with the MPA admission standards and the requirements of the Graduate College, including completion of a standardized exam such as the GRE, GMAT or LSAT.

MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

The CPM is designed for persons in management positions who need a limited number of selected courses in contemporary methods, skills, and models of management. On occasion, however, a person may pursue the CPM and then decide that it would be desirable to pursue the MPA degree. All CPM credits may be applied to the MPA.

MASTER OF GLOBAL STUDIES

Formerly the Master of International Affairs and Administration

Beat R. Kernen, Program Director

Strong Hall, Room 310; Phone (417) 836-4618
BeatKernen@missouristate.edu

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The program is designed to meet growing societal, occupational, and student needs and demands for persons educated and knowledgeable in international affairs. It will help students to become professionally involved in an increasingly competitive and interdependent world in which the United States occupies a prominent position. The Master of Global Studies (MGS) will produce graduates who will be well trained in international affairs and administration and can work in the public or private sector. It is also designed to prepare its graduates to continue their graduate education at the doctoral level in political science, international relations, or other related fields.

Students with demonstrated academic competence who are interested in the field of international studies will be welcomed into the program regardless of undergraduate major.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

1. Normally, applicants with a 3.00 GPA or above in their undergraduate degree from an accredited institution and a combined GRE score of not less than 900 on the verbal and quantitative sections will be admitted to the MGS program in good standing. A minimum score of 900 is required on the combined verbal and quantitative sections of the GRE, with a minimum of 475 on either the verbal or quantitative section and a score of not less than 425 on the other. All students applying for admission must take the GRE before being admitted into the program.
2. Three strong letters from professors at the undergraduate level and/or persons well acquainted with the applicant's education and abilities will be admitted to the MIAA program in good standing. These letters are to be submitted to the Director of the MGS program.
3. Applicants with an undergraduate GPA between 2.75 and 2.99 and/or a score of less than 900 on the GRE may be admitted to the program on a provisional basis. A personal interview may be requested.

4. Foreign students applying for admission to the MGS program who do not have an undergraduate degree from an American university must have completed the equivalent of an undergraduate degree at an accredited university. They must also demonstrate graduate-level proficiency in English by either having achieved a score of 550 on the paper-based, or a comparable score of 213 on the computer-based TOEFL, or by other equivalent means.

PREREQUISITE COURSES

The MGS program does not require any specific prerequisite courses. However, an applicant may be advised or required to take undergraduate prerequisite courses in areas pertinent to the MGS program. For example, an applicant with little or no statistical training will be required to take an undergraduate course in statistics, or a student who has little knowledge of global affairs may be advised to take an undergraduate course in international and/or comparative politics before enrolling in the respective graduate seminars in these two fields.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

All students applying for a graduate assistantship must have their GRE scores (verbal and quantitative) on file at the time of application. All graduate assistants in Political Science are required to take 9 hours of course work.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS Minimum of 39 hours

1. Required Core:

PLS 705	Seminar in Comparative Politics	3 hrs
PLS 713	Sem. Foreign Policy Decision-Making	3 hrs
PLS 715	Comparative Public Administration	3 hrs
PLS 721	International Political Economy	3 hrs
PLS 732	International Relations in Theory & Practice	3 hrs
PLS 737	Seminar in International Organizations	3 hrs
		Total 18 hrs

2. Research. A student will be required to complete 3-6 hours in one of the following two options:

Non-Thesis Option – Complete required core courses (18 hours), and 21 hours in chosen cognate field (see below), including PLS 780.

Thesis Option – Complete required core courses (18 hours), and 15 hours in chosen cognate field, and 6 hours of PLS 799. The thesis option is only open to students who maintain a minimum GPA of 3.75.

3. Cognate Fields. The MGS candidate, in consultation with the Program Director and with approval of the department head, may choose one of the following four cognate fields: 15-18 hrs
- a. International Relations/Comparative Politics. PLS 635, 641, 642, 644, 645, 646, 648, 650, 757, 771, 780, 781, 797; HST 643, 656, 659, 661, 671, 688, 740, 760; ECO 620; GRY 607, 697
 - b. Public Administration: PLS 673, 755, 759, 762, 763, 780, 781, 797; MGT 747, 764, 765; FGB 682; PLN 605, 670, 671, 672
 - c. International Economics and Business: PLS 780, 781, 797; ECO 665, 705, 710; ACC 606; FGB 600; RIL 639; MGT 747, 761; MKT 774
 - d. National Security: PLS 717, 719, 772, 773, 782; CRM 740 ; 745 (students who have completed PLS 717, 719, CRM 740 and CRM 745 are eligible to be awarded the Certificate in Homeland Security and Defense from the College of Humanities and Public Affairs if the student has completed all the admission and completion requirements for the certificate through the Graduate College).

Within each cognate field, a student is required to take courses that are related to each other and reflect the student’s strength and interest. Depending on the research option selected, students will take five or six courses in their chosen cognate field.

4. Comprehensive Examination. Upon completion of course work, students with a GPA of less than 3.75 will be required to pass a written comprehensive examination covering the core classes.
5. Exit Interview. Upon completion of course work, all students will be required to undergo an exit interview with the Program Director.
6. Foreign Language Requirement. Equivalent of two years of courses in any modern language offered either at Missouri State University or at another institution of higher learning. A student’s language proficiency may be determined by both written and oral examinations in his/her chosen foreign language. In some cases, foreign students may substitute their native language, if it is not English, for the language requirement if it is related to their cognate field.
7. Quantitative Methods Requirement. Students without any statistical background will be required to take course work in this area. Proficiency in quantitative methods must be demonstrated either by passing a Diagnostic Test in quantitative methods or by having completed PLS 676 (Quantitative Methods of Political Science and Public Policy) or ECO 611 (Intermediate Econometrics) or an equivalent course approved by the Program Director.

MISSOURI STATE UNIVERSITY

ACCELERATED MASTER OF GLOBAL STUDIES OPTION

Eligible Missouri State University majors in Global Studies, Political Science, and other relevant disciplines may apply for preliminary acceptance into the Master of Global Studies (MGS) program after admission requirements for the accelerated master's option have been satisfied. If accepted, both the undergraduate and graduate requirements for dual-listed courses must have been fulfilled to be counted for both the undergraduate and graduate degrees. This option gives exceptional undergraduate students the opportunity to complete their bachelor's and master's degrees in ten semesters and a summer. Contact the Department of Political Science for further information and guidelines.

Before enrolling in a course to be counted as both undergraduate and graduate credit and to count the course toward the master's degree, an undergraduate student must be accepted into the accelerated program and receive prior approval from the graduate program advisor, department head of the undergraduate program, and the dean of the Graduate College. This is done with the completion of a Mixed Credit Form. Acceptance into the program and all approvals must be completed prior to the end of the Change of Schedule Period for the course(s). See the Graduate College for further information.

Admission Process for the Accelerated MGS Option:

Immediately prior to or during the junior year, the prospective student should discuss the possibility of participating in the Accelerated Master's Degree program with their undergraduate advisor, Director of the Global Studies program, and the Department Head of the Political Science Department. If the student's academic record and potential are judged strong, the Director recommends the student to the proposed Accelerated program for approval by the Department Head. Undergraduate students who enter the Accelerated Master's Degree program should have a sponsor, i.e., a PLS faculty member who will serve as a mentor to the student throughout the undergraduate and graduate programs.

Students admitted into the Accelerated Master's Degree Program will not be fully admitted into the Graduate College until completion of their undergraduate degree and fulfillment of all other requirements for admission (such as the Graduate Record Examination). Students should be awarded the bachelor's degree upon completion of a minimum of 125 hours of undergraduate course work and degree-specific requirements.

Admission Requirements for the Accelerated Global Studies Option:

1. Global Studies, political science and other undergraduate majors must have at least junior standing and a minimum of 60 credit hours.
2. Applicants must have a minimum 3.50 GPA in the major curriculum and a 3.00 overall GPA.
3. Students in the Accelerated Master's Degree Program must maintain a 3.50 GPA in their major and maintain a 3.00 overall GPA to remain in the program.
4. Transfer students will be allowed into the Accelerated Masters Degree Program. Transfer students must have a minimum of 30 graded hours of course work at Missouri State University before they can be accepted into the program.
5. A maximum of 12 credits of mixed credit courses may be applied toward completion of their undergraduate degree requirements. The following courses will be allowed as electives in the Global Studies program if they have been completed as graduate courses (only courses regularly offered are listed; when courses on demand are offered, a student may petition to count them as electives towards the accelerated program): the four courses counting towards the accelerated program must have four different course codes, including at least one PLS code:

Each student will complete a major research paper related to one of these topics. 3(3-0), F

PLS 713 Seminar in Foreign Policy Decisionmaking. 3(3-0), S. An examination of the factors that shape foreign policy decisionmaking, especially as they have evolved in the 20th century in the United States. In addition to an examination of the governmental institutions and societal forces that influence policy, students will critically analyze decision-making models that have been developed to explain how and why foreign policy decisions are made.

PLS 715 Comparative Public Administration. 3(3-0), F. The course will review the literature on the study of comparative public administration. The body of the course will focus on substantive public management issues in a variety of countries. Students will be expected to understand the rationale for the subfield, its development, and develop the skills needed to conduct scientific analysis.

PLS 717 Multidisciplinary Approaches to Homeland Security. 3(3-0), D. Examines the full spectrum of both homeland security and defense activities, the diverse responsibilities of the primary stakeholders, and current policies and practical efforts to develop and integrate homeland security and defense efforts nationwide.

PLS 719 Strategic Planning and Organizational Imperatives in Homeland Security. 3(3-0), D. The attainment of homeland security goals is dependent on comprehensive planning and organization to integrate and mobilize all levels of government and private sector responses. This course critically analyzes these efforts.

PLS 721 International Political Economy. 3(3-0), S. A general introduction to the politics of international economic relations, with a special emphasis on the extent, causes, and consequences of globalization. Covers such topics as trade, investment, aid, global warming, international institutions, and the political roots of economic development. May be taught concurrently with ECO 721. Students cannot receive credit for both PLS 721 and ECO 721.

PLS 732 International Relations in Theory and Practice. 3(3-0), F. An examination of the principal paradigms and approaches in the study of international relations as they have evolved, particularly in the 20th century, and their usefulness for understanding the practice of global affairs. Students will familiarize themselves with both theoretical and substantive aspects of international relations and global affairs. Completion of a major research project focusing on an issue or region and analyzing it from a theoretical perspective is required.

PLS 737 Seminar in International Organizations. 3(3-0), S. A study of the historical development and theoretical foundations of international organizations. Readings and research will emphasize recent issues and developments in both regional and global aspects in the organization of the international system.

PLS 752 Public Personnel Management. 3(3-0), F. Intensive examination of the management of personnel focused directly on the public sector at the federal, state, and local levels. The course will explore the development, structure, and procedures of the public service. Issues of public personnel management to be examined include: perspectives on the public service, merit and patronage systems, labor relations, civil service reform, anti-discriminatory policies, and productivity and accountability.

PLS 753 Management Techniques and Organizational Behavior. 3(3-0), S. A core lecture course designed to familiarize the student with the development of managerial skills through MBO, decision making theory, strategy implementation, change theory and development administration, problem solving, coordination within the organization, communication techniques and effecting productivity. Emphasis will be placed upon the applicability of management and organizational theory to the public sector.

PLS 754 Seminar in Health Policy. 3(3-0), D. Politics of health policy formulation and planning. A study of participants in policy formulation, role of the different levels of government, issues and problems in health care planning, interrelationship of agencies involved, Medicare, Medicaid, national health insurance.

PLS 756 Financial Management for State and Local Government. 3(3-0), F. A course dealing with intergovernmental financial relations, revenue sources, tax strategies, bond requirements, and issuance procedures, sinking funds, budget techniques and basic categories of state and local expenditures.

PLS 757 Topics Seminar in Public Policy and Administration. 3(3-0), D. Topics course. The specific topics will change from semester to semester. May be repeated as topics change.

PLS 759 Seminar in Administrative Management and Organizational Theory. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: PLS 753. A topics seminar in which each student will be responsible for an individual research project. Research will include both a review of applicable literature and a case study of an actual management or organizational problem-situation within a government office. This project will be preceded by a concise review of basic management principles and organizational theory.

PLS 760 Management of Intergovernmental Relations. 3(3-0), D. The course is designed to familiarize students with the nature and scope of intergovernmental relations and how they impact issues such as fiscal management, grantsmanship, public policy formulation, public program monitoring and administration.

PLS 761 Management of Nonprofit Organizations. 3(3-0) SO. This course provides a general survey of nonprofit organizations. It will examine the historical, legal, ethical, and social environments in which nonprofit organizations operate. It will also discuss various aspects of nonprofit organization management, ranging from managing people and money to managing public relations and trust. The course will integrate theoretical and practical aspects of nonprofit management. The theoretical aspects will be achieved through readings and literature reviews. The practical side will come from guest speakers, field interviews, and hands-on assignments.

PLS 762 Public Policy and Program Evaluation. 3(3-0), SO. The course is designed to familiarize students with the nature and role of evaluation in the policy process. Topics will include but not be limited to: the various types of evaluation, evaluation methods, evaluability assessment, program monitoring, impact assessment, process assessment, utilization of evaluation findings, and the politics of evaluation.

PLS 763 The Policy Process. 3(3-0), D. This course is designed to explore how public policy is made at all levels of government in the United States. Approximately two-thirds of the course will focus on the policy process; the remainder will concentrate on two or three major policy issues. Students will do an extended paper on a policy issue applying the concepts from the first part of the course.

PLS 770 Seminar in Political Science. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: permission. Advanced research in selected political science topics. May be repeated once for credit.

PLS 771 Seminar in Public Administration. 3(3-0), F. This course is designed as the foundation course for the Master of Public Administration program. Topics covered include the development of public administration, political, social, economic, and legal processes and institutions, the policy process, and values and ethics. All students will complete a major research paper related to one of these topics.

PLS 772 Introduction to Public Safety Services. 3(3-0) F. This course introduces students to the current principles and practices of public safety services from the theoretical and practitioner's perspective. We will look at how services are provided, management challenges, the levels of emergencies and disaster operations, preparedness, recovery and mitigation.

PLS 773 Hazard Analysis, Mitigation, and Preparedness. 3(3-0) S. This course focuses on crucial actions taken in preparing the emergencies. All public safety agency work begins with a thorough analysis of the hazards faced whether they are from natural causes or manmade. The course will introduce students to various methods for conducting the hazard analysis regardless of whether for law enforcement, fire service, emergency medical services or 9-1-1. The class examines various methods to mitigate the occurrences of those incidents and how public safety agencies can prepare themselves and the public for when they occur.

PLS 776 Local Public Service Delivery. 3(3-0) SE. This course prepares students to provide management and guidance to various local government services such as public works, police, fire, parks, utilities, and human services. It covers issues of governance which enable various government and non-for-profit groups to cooperate in the delivery of these services. The focus is on management in medium and small-sized municipalities in both rural and urban settings. Extensive use of guest lectures and site visits are essential components of this course.

PLS 777 Local Government and Politics and Administration. 3(3-0) SO. This course familiarizes students with a broad array of local government issues, structures, management concerns, and politics. Interwoven throughout the course is a discussion of the roles that professional administration and local politics play in everyday local government operations. The major focus will be on the decision making process of professional administrators as they attempt to bring both efficiency and effectiveness to local government.

PLS 778 Ethics and Leadership in the Public Sector. 3(3-0) F. This course examines the role and impact of leadership in public organizations, with particular focus on the ethical dimensions of leadership behavior. The course provides an overview of the knowledge, theory, and skills regarding leadership and professional ethics. Topics include charismatic and transformational leadership, leadership styles, the role of the leader in creating ethical climates and building effective ethical cultures, organizational change strategies, power and politics, and motivation strategies. Also covered are the ethical codes, standards, and practices promulgated by the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) and the International City Management Association (ICMA).

PLS 780 Independent Study in Political Science. 1-4, F,S. Prerequisite: permission of instructor and department head. Carefully planned independent study designed on an individual basis for the advanced student who wishes to investigate a well defined problem not dealt with adequately by standard courses. Normally, a student may take PLS 780 only once to fulfill the requirements of the non-thesis option or as part of the cognate field if pursuing the thesis option.

PLS 781 In-Service Training in Public Administration. 3(3-0), F,S. Prerequisite: permission. Supervised field work in an approved local, state, or national governmental agency including preparation of an acceptable formal report.

PLS 782 Internship/Practicum in International Field. 3(3-0) F,S. Prerequisite: permission of program director and department head. Supervised field work in a federal government agency, international governmental/non-governmental organization, multinational corporation, or equivalent. The course requirements include a formal report on the internship/practicum and evaluation by the supervisor.

PLS 797 Special Topics in Global Affairs. 3(3-0), D. Prerequisite: permission. The specific topics will change from semester to semester, and will include subjects such as international humanitarian law, comparative foreign policy, global Islamic movements, and globalization. Variable content course. May be repeated as topics change.

PLS 799 Thesis. 1-6, D. Prerequisite: permission. Independent research and study connected with preparation of thesis.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

This program will develop sound knowledge and professional skills in the discipline of Religious Studies, as well as in the broader context of related disciplines in the humanities area. The following Religious Studies foci are made available for emphasis: South Asian Religions; History of Christianity and Judaism; Biblical Studies; and Religion, Self and Society. Upon completion of the program, students will have acquired a foundation of knowledge, skills and perspectives for working in a variety of vocations where a high degree of versatility in human affairs, knowledge in humanities, and an ability to negotiate among various religious faiths, ideologies and opinions, are required.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

1. A bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in the U.S., or equivalent training in a foreign university.
2. A minimum GPA of 3.20 on a 4.00 scale, or a minimum GPA of 3.40 on a 4.00 scale for the last 60 hours of undergraduate course work. Students who do not meet the GPA requirements must take the GRE and normally will be expected to score a minimum of 1000 on the combined verbal and quantitative sections.
3. International applicants are also required to submit a score of not less than 550 on the paper-based, or a comparable score of 213 on the computer-based TOEFL, or by other equivalent means with a minimum score of 50 percent on the Listening Comprehension Section.
4. 24 hours of undergraduate Religious Studies courses with a minimum of one course from each of the four fields: History of Religions; Biblical Studies; History of Christianity and Judaism; and Religion, Self, and Society.
5. 12 hours of one foreign language or its equivalent (e.g., passing a proficiency examination administered by the Modern and Classical Languages Department).
6. Applicants lacking the background courses described above may be admitted, but will be required to rectify deficiencies with appropriate course work. These courses will not count toward the master's degree and must be completed before filing an Advisory-approved Program of Study. Students who do not meet the GPA or GRE standards outlined above may be granted conditional admission to the program at the discretion of the Advisory Committee. To be advanced to full standing in the program, students will be required to complete a minimum of 9 hours of specified graduate courses with a GPA of at least 3.30.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS (Minimum of 32 hrs)

1. Core Requirements.

REL 710	Basic Issues: South Asian Religions	3 hrs
REL 730	Basic Issues: Biblical Studies	3 hrs
REL 750	Basic Issues: Hist. of Judaism & Christianity	3 hrs
REL 770	Basic Issues: Religion, Self & Society	3 hrs
REL 711	Sem: South Asian Religions OR	3 hrs
REL 771	Sem: Religion, Self & Society	3 hrs
REL 731	Sem: Biblical Studies OR	3 hrs
REL 751	Sem: Hist. of Christianity & Judaism	3 hrs
Total		18 hours

2. Electives. Fourteen hours, including a minimum of 6 hours of electives, must be taken in the Religious Studies Department. The student's Advisory Committee should approve these courses.
3. Advisory Committee. Initially each student will be advised by the General Graduate Advisor. As soon as possible, the student will select a faculty member to chair a graduate advisory committee consisting of at least three persons. This committee will supervise the remainder of the candidate's graduate program.
4. Program of Study. The candidate's program will be structured by the Advisory Committee in consultation with the student.
5. Research. Completion of a thesis, or two seminar papers acceptable to the student's Advisory Committee.
6. Comprehensive Examination. The written and oral comprehensive examination will be administered after most of the course work has been completed. This examination must be passed by the candidate before a degree will be granted.

ACCELERATED MASTER'S DEGREE OPTION

Eligible undergraduate majors in Religious Studies or an equivalent department from an accredited institution may apply for early admission to the Master of Arts in Religious Studies. Once accepted for early admission, students will be able to take up to twelve (12) credit hours at the 600- and 700-level that apply to both their undergraduate and graduate programs. Before enrolling in courses to be counted for both undergraduate and graduate credit, an undergraduate student must be accepted into the accelerated master's program AND receive prior approval from the General Graduate Advisor, Department Head, and the Graduate College Dean (on a Mixed Credit Form).

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

1. Junior standing, with an overall GPA of 3.4.
2. Major in Religious Studies or an equivalent, having completed fifteen hours in the department, including at least six hours at the 300-level or above, with a GPA in the major of 3.5.
3. Recommendation by a faculty member in Religious Studies or an equivalent department at another institution.
4. Admission by the Graduate Committee of the Department of Religious Studies.

RELIGIOUS STUDIES FOR THE PROFESSIONS CERTIFICATE

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

In order to serve effectively in various human professions one must understand the religious and cultural beliefs and values of those with whom one works. This certificate is designed to meet the needs of individuals who wish to increase both their knowledge and appreciation of the religious diversity they encounter. Prerequisites will be waived for the certificate.

ADMISSION CRITERIA

A student must be admitted to the Graduate College and have all course work approved by the director. A student must also have a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution in the U.S., or equivalent training in a foreign university, and have a minimum GPA of 3.00.

REQUIRED COURSES 12 Hours Total

Students must complete four three-hour courses at the 600-level in the department of Religious Studies*. The four courses must represent three different areas of specialization within the department. The areas of specialization are:

1. Topics in the History of Religions (REL 645)
2. Topics in Judaism & Christianity (REL 655)
3. Biblical Studies (REL 615, 625, 675, 676)
4. Basic Issues in Religion, Self, & Society (REL 770)

*REL 685 counts toward the certificate, but it does not count toward meeting an area of specialization requirement.

COMPLETION REQUIREMENTS

Students must have an overall grade point average of 3.00 for completion of the certificate program.

EXIT CRITERIA

Students must participate in an exit interview.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Applied Anthropology is the application of anthropological skills and knowledge to the needs and problems of society today. This program is intended to be a terminal, practice degree, although it will also be helpful preparation for a Ph.D. program. Applicants should have a strong undergraduate background in anthropology. The program emphasizes the cultivation of professional skills such as quantitative analysis, computer applications, technical writing, and public speaking. There are many facets to applied anthropology, but the current focus of this program is the study and preservation of cultural heritage through archaeology and ethnography. Every student will take courses in both archaeology and in ethnography, but each student will normally focus on one or the other. The program is concerned chiefly with American culture and diversity, particularly Native American culture and the Ozarks region, and is intended to meet the steadily growing need for professionals in cultural resource management, public archaeology, cultural and linguistic preservation, and heritage tourism.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

Admission to the program is selective. The minimum standards for admission are:

1. A bachelor's degree from a college or university accredited by agencies recognized by Missouri State University.
2. A minimum overall GPA of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale; OR at least a 3.25 GPA on a 4.00 scale for the last 60 hours of academic course work; OR a combined score of 1000 or higher on the verbal and quantitative sections of the Graduate Records Examination (GRE).
3. At least a 3.25 in all anthropology courses.

This program is designed for students who have completed an undergraduate major in anthropology, which should include at least two courses in cultural anthropology and in archaeology, a theory course, and an introduction to statistics. A field school or fieldwork experience is highly recommended, as are courses in North American Indians and North American Archaeology. Promising applicants may be admitted provisionally with deficiencies, which will need to be rectified with extra course work.

A final decision on admission will be made by the anthropology graduate admissions committee, which will take the following into consideration:

1. Three letters of recommendation concerning academic and professional promise.
2. A resume of not more than two pages, highlighting any experience relevant to this Master's program.
3. A statement of purpose of 300-500 words on qualifications and reasons for pursuing this degree.
4. At least one sample of writing (e.g., a term paper).
5. A transcript of all courses taken and degree(s) completed.

Admission will also depend on the number of students the program can support at a given time and the suitability of the applicant and his or her interests for the objectives of the program.

 - ANT 698 Seminar in Anthropology* 3 hrs

*When applicable (e.g., The Anthropology of Tourism, Ethnohistory, Language Preservation, Historic Archaeology, Interpreting Skeletal Remains)

Up to 6 hours of related graduate level courses in other programs may also serve as electives with approval of the advisor and graduate director.

3. Internship. Every student will complete an internship of at least 200 hours with an approved organization. It is the responsibility of the student to arrange this internship, in consultation with his or her advisor. Completion of the internship requires submission of a detailed report or portfolio and an oral presentation to the anthropology faculty and graduate students.

4. Advisory Committee. Every student will be assigned a faculty advisor, who will supervise the course of study. An advisory committee of at least three professors from the Graduate Faculty will be formed to evaluate the practicum or thesis. This committee may include an additional member from another university, or an agency or organization, when appropriate.

5. Research. Upon completion of the core courses, electives, and internship, each student will submit a proposal for a research project. This proposal shall be prepared in consultation with the student's advisor. When completed, the graduate director will convene a hearing with the student's advisory committee for final approval. There are two options for this research project:

Practicum. It is expected that most students will conduct an applied project from beginning to completion. The final report will serve as the equivalent of a thesis.

Thesis. In some instances, it may be more appropriate to conduct a research project and write a thesis.

6. Comprehensive Examination. Upon completion of a thesis or a practicum report, a hearing will be held and the student will be examined on the work by the advisory committee. Each student will also give a public presentation on his or her research.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

This program provides the opportunity for advanced knowledge and understanding of issues involving criminal behavior, the operation of the criminal justice system, crime control policy initiatives, and using theory and research methods for criminal justice program evaluation, within the framework of the university mission in public affairs. The program develops credentials for moving into management positions in criminal justice agencies, assuming jobs in criminology/criminal justice research centers, and serves as a springboard to Ph.D. programs at other universities.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

1. A bachelor's degree in sociology, criminology, or criminal justice; AND a minimum overall GPA of 3.00 on a 4.00 scale; OR at least a 3.00 on a 4.00 scale for the last 60 hours of academic course work; AND a score of 475 or higher on either the verbal or quantitative section of the Graduate Records Examination (GRE) AND a score of not less than 400 on the other section.
2. Students without a bachelor's degree in sociology, criminology or criminal justice may be required to take up to fifteen hours of undergraduate course work at the discretion of the Graduate Director. The requirement for course work may be waived by the Graduate Director based on equivalent course work, professional education, and/or work experience in the criminal justice system.
3. Students who do not meet the minimum entrance requirements stated in Item #1 may be admitted conditionally to the program at the discretion of the program admission committee and the approval of the Graduate Dean. Conditional admission might be based on factors such as work experience or other indications of academic potential found in the application materials. On a case-by-case basis, the committee will set terms for full admission to the program.
4. Applicants must submit the following items to the Graduate College: the Graduate Admission Application, the application fee, two official copies of transcripts showing course work for the bachelor's degree, and GRE scores.
